

Reflection #1: Interior Design Collective

Cindy Huynh

October 2, 2020

Group Dynamics & CPS

About the
Interior Design
Collective

About The IDC

A new initiative that connects Sheridan students with industry professionals in insightful conversations for growth in knowledge, and the ability to create impactful designs.

HUBS

SESSIONS

SHARE

My On-going Experience

Interdependence

Goals

Roles

Interaction

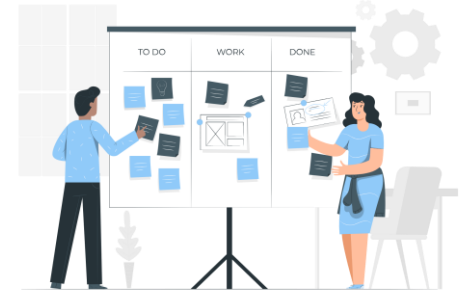

01 | Interdependence

- We depend on one another
 - Thoughts, feelings and experiences
- Reassurance for actions
- Hierarchical Interdependence
 - Example: member's respond back to my critiques, but I ultimately make the decision

02 | Create and Achieve Goals

- I am the designated Graphics Team Leader
- Writing down a list of goals/tasks every two weeks
 - Example: guest speaker template, introduction story
- Choosing the best design for socials, and critiquing each other's work

“

After graduating from the Interior Design program at Ryerson University, I decided to explore a different path in the design world. This led me to a 15 year career as an Interior Designer at IKEA working on a variety of projects internationally, including 7 years of living in the Netherlands and working at the IKEA Concept Centre. Having trained many senior interior designers during my later years at IKEA, the teaching bug continued when I left and moved back to Canada in 2018. I have since enjoyed teaching at Sheridan in the FAAD.

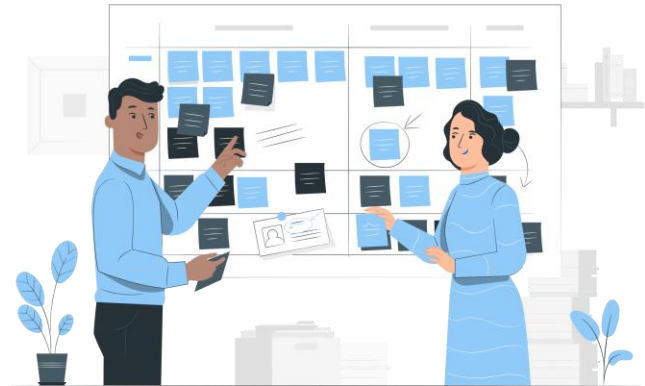

PAK LUN

FAAD Sheridan Professor,
Design Specialist based in TO (retail and residential)

03 | Assigning Roles

- Did not have assigned roles at the beginning
- Began assigning roles at the middle-stage of the IDC
 - President, Secretary, Graphics and Social Media Team Lead
- In-charge of contacting with President
- Keep in-contact with all members (“followers”)

04 | Interact with Each Other

- This new initiative started during the Summer break
 - COVID-19 limiting physical interaction
- Interact through online resources
 - Zoom, WhatsApp, Outlook, Facebook, and Instagram

Thank you for listening!

